Bright debuts solo CD, gives proceeds to Food for Preston

by Cynthia McCloud
CORRESPONDENT

KINGWOOD — Karen Bright has blended two of her passions — singing and feeding people — in her first solo CD, "Karen Sings Patsy Cline."

The CD can be obtained for a $10 donation to Food for Preston, a non-profit organization that helps secure food, funding and volunteers for the county's 10 food pantries. Bright is the group's treasurer.

Bright explained she cannot sell her renditions of Cline's songs because of copyright rules. However, she can give them away.

Bright is known throughout Preston County as a West Virginia University Extension Services Nutritional outreach instructor and as an entertainer.

"There are so many people in Preston County who use the pantries," she said. "I teach cooking classes to them to help them stretch their dollars."

Food for Preston Director Tammy Laney said 6 percent of Preston's 30,000 residents visit a food pantry every month year-round. They serve 1,700 people monthly — and that number jumps to 2,040 at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

"How wonderfully generous Karen is, not only for donating the money she has raised from the sale of her CD, but she is generous with her time," Laney said. "Her wonderful generosity and her know-how here in Preston County have allowed Food for Preston to continue for all these years."

Bright sees it as a practical solution to a problem. "We can always get grants to buy shelves or freezers; it's harder to have money to purchase meat or other proteins," Bright said. "This is my best way of being able to put cash in the hands of the pantries so they can spend it on what they need."

On the CD, Bright performs some of Cline's biggest hits, including "Crazy."

"My favorite is 'Walking After Midnight' and I like how that turned out on the CD," Bright said. "I sing 'Always' because it is my mom's favorite."

Bright's mother, Willilee Brown, who lives in Colorado Springs, took the photos for the CD jacket.

The 16 songs on the album include one Bright wrote, titled "The Hills of West Virginia Call Me Home."

"I love West Virginia so much," she said. "When I came here, I always felt like I belonged here. When I chose to move here (in 1988), I felt like I had lived here my entire life. It's home to me. I wanted to portray that in the song."

Bright's father, Benjamin Hunter Brown, grew up in Fairmont, and that is part of the reason the state is so close to Bright's heart.

"When my father died (in 1996) it was very heartwrenching for me," she said. "I realized, being in West Virginia, I can look around at the mountains and the rivers and the valleys and be a part of what he was a part of, and it doesn't make me feel so sad."

Bright's husband, Matthew, harmonizes with her on that song. He plays guitar, bass guitar, mandolin and clawhammer-style banjo in their band. Bright was the "Girl" in the Karen Bright of the Preston County band The Ole Lady and the Boys has released her first solo CD, a collection of Patsy Cline songs plus an original composition titled "The Hills of West Virginia Call Me Home." Bright is offering the album for a $10 donation to Food for Preston, a non-profit organization for which she is treasurer.

local band J.C. and the Boys and a Girl. After front man J.C. Hollis passed away, the band changed its name to The Ole Lady and the Boys. Matthew's pet name for Karen is "Ole Lady."

The band backed Bright when she performed her Cline repertoire at a concert Sept. 8, drawing the largest crowd the Preston Community Arts Center has ever seen, said Executive Director JoAnn Peterson. Then, also, Bright requested that her share of the take — $800 — go to Food for Preston.

"We've had over 125 before, but we've never had to turn people away until then," Peterson said. "Everyone who knows Karen loves her and many people are fans of Patsy Cline. Put the two together, and you have a winning, crowd-pleasing combination."

The audience clamored for CDs and motivated Bright to make one at Zone 8 Recording Studio in Granville.

Next, they are talking about making a Christmas album, and the band wants to record a gospel album.

Bright has been singing almost her whole life.

"My first solo was when I was 4 in preschool," she said, because "I was the loudest singer and I was on pitch. I sang 'In Your Easter Bonnet' at a nursing home. I never stopped singing."

In high school, Bright was in madrigal and show choirs. And she studied with a woman who went on to sing at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York and have an opera career. Cline's music was also part of her childhood.

"I remember my parents listening to an eight-track tape in the station wagon," Bright said.

They had diverse musical taste — from classic country by Loretta Lynn and Dottie West to Lawrence Welk and big bands.

"My dad liked Dixieland jazz, my mom liked Hawaiian music."

As Bright developed her own tastes, she sampled Anne Murray and Karen Carpenter and Kay Starr. But she can most relate to Patsy Cline.

"My voice is in a lower register and so was hers."

"Patsy wasn't just country," Bright said. "She was known as a torch singer. She sang big band, too, and bluesy jazz. She was a diversified artist."

God saw you getting tired,
And a cure was not to be,
So he put his arms around you,
And whispered "Come to Me"

With tearful eyes we watched you suffer,
And saw you fall away.
Although we couldn't bear to lose you,

We could not ask you to stay.
A golden heart stopped beating,
Hardworking hands laid to rest.

God broke our hearts to prove to us,

That He only takes the best.

Loren Elmer Woodside

BIRTH	19 Aug 1930 Spokane, Spokane County, Washington, USA
DEATH	29 Sep 2012 (aged 82) Pendleton, Umatilla County, Oregon, USA
BURIAL	Unknown
MEMORIAL ID	100691098 · View Source

Loren Elmer Woodside passed away on September 29, 2012 as a result of an auto accident following a day of hunting.

Loren was born in Spokane, Washington, August 19, 1930 to Lyda and Frank Woodside. Frank managed a crew of linemen for the Washington Water Power Co., and they moved several times. As a result, Loren attended Grade School in Lind, Middle School in Davenport, and High School in Ritzville. He graduated from Ritzville High School in 1949.

Since his dad worked for the Washington Water Power, as a kid he had summer jobs that included hoeing weeds around power poles. This gave him lots of experience killing rattlesnakes. The presence of hobos during the depression era was a significant memory from Loren's childhood. They passed by their family home seeking handouts and he recalled pitching rocks at them by the Lind railroad station until one day when one such hobo caught him.

While in high school he delivered groceries for the local grocery store. As a result he knew everyone in town. He also attended most of the dances in the county.

He was in the Seabees branch of the Navy during the Korean Conflict from 1950 to 1954, as part of the supply chain. He was stationed at Subic Bay in the Philippines.

While in the Navy, he received electrical training, and after being discharged worked for the REA in Othello. In 1954 he married Pat Cline. In 1957 he realized his life long dream to become a farmer, and began farming in the Lind area, where he and Pat raised their family. They were married for 23 years.

For a few years Loren raised pigs. His children have memories of chasing the pigs back into the pen during a dust storm.

As a child he often asked for a horse, and his father would tell him no, because they had no place to keep one. Loren would respond saying that they could keep it in the garage. But his own kids were delighted when one day he showed up riding a black pony, which was the beginning of the family's adventures with horses.

While living on the farm he always had a bird dog. The first hunting dog killed off most of the chickens, but Loren wanted the dog far more than chickens and so that was the end of their experience raising chickens.

He was the principle breakfast cook for his family while his kids were growing up. He did not believe in cold cereal; real men ate pancakes. He eventually experimented with sourdough and his sourdough pancakes became a favorite, even at hunting camp. He also freely gave advice on nutrition that usually included eating raw garlic.

Loren Elmer Woodside

Loren married Sherron Bunch in 1978. They retired from the farm and moved to Lexington, Oregon in the early 1980s. Their marriage ended in 2004.

His true passions in life were hunting and trapshooting. He took part in trapshoots all across the Northwest, and hunting expeditions as far away as Alaska and Canada. His grandchildren knew him as Grandpa Grizz due to his bear hunting interests and stories.

He loved to play Santa at Christmas time for his children and grandchildren, and even continued that role in later years for local community events.

He was a mentor to family and friends, and a source of positive encouragement. He enjoyed researching the family history and was a great storyteller.

He is survived by his three children: Kathryn Woodside, Scott Woodside, and Lori Woodside; and the love of his life Sherry Sager. He is also survived by four grandchildren and three great grandchildren. His parents, and his sister, Barbara Teske, preceded him in death.

I just returned from a trip to Bedford, VA and am now more curious than ever to connect with anyone researching the following:

Thomas O'Dooley born in Antrim, Ulster, Ireland in 1670

died on 20 Aug 1744 in Bedford, VA

Thomas' wife Rebekah born in Ireland and died???

Their son Henry, b-1710 Antrim Ulster Ireland d-1778 Botetourt, VA Henry married Martha Anderson b-1720 Augusta, VA d-1778 Bedford, VA (I believe Martha's father was George Anderson) Henry and Martha owned a lot of land in and around Bedford. Henry and Martha had at least 2 children, Thomas and Jacob, both of which are honored on a monument on the court house lawn for their service in the revolutionary war at the battle at Point Pleasant.

Thomas was later murdered by John Lowry, who was tried and hung at Williamsburg for Thomas' murder.

Jacob was married to Mary Betty Bush, who died in or about 1826. Jacob remarried Nancy Potts in 1830, who is on record as a collector of Jacob Dooley's revolutionary war benefits upon Jacob's death in 1842. Nancy Potts lived into her 90's Jacob Dooley and Mary Bush fathered my descendant, Gideon Dooley.

I won't go on from here, as this is the place I am stuck. I am looking for records of passage from Ireland and also any other records for our family of Dooley's and O'Dooley's.

Thanks,

Peggy Bailey

I am currently researching the Jacob Dooley line (born 1755) and wonder if any of your research might help.

I believe I may have tied my family to Jacob through DNA. We match this group of Dooleys. My line is descended from an Isaac Dooley who was born 1813. Through census forensics I have found Isaac living in Nancy Potts' house about the same time she eventually marries Jacob. The trouble is, I am finding it difficult to show a paper trail link between Jacob and Isaac. It appears Isaac was born "out of wedlock" making the solid data tough to pin down, unless somebody has a nugget of info tucked away in a family bible somewhere.

My DNA test point to a very strong and high likelihood that it is Jacob, but nothing beats a document. Any thoughts?

Very Respectfully,

Matt Dooley

Is there proof that Thomas O'Dooley was born in Antrim, Ulster, Ireland in 1670 and died on 20 Aug 1744 in Bedford, VA and that Henry was his son? If so, where do I find that?

A recent trip to Virginia and a visit to the Bedford, VA genealogy library and museum, as well as visits to local libraries in the area confirm the following:

Jacob Dooley was a revolutionary war vet and fought at the battle of Point Pleasant. A monument stands on the court house lawn in Bedford listing Jacob and his brother Thomas as soldiers in that battle.

I found several pages of land documents listing Henry (Jacob and brother Thomas' dad as a land owner all over VA)

Several references were made in books documenting the Dooley's in VA at that time that state Henry as the father of Jacob and his brother Thomas who fought in the revolutionary war.

Many references are made to roots in Antrim and father Thomas and mother Rebekah. I am still in the process of posting the hundreds of pages I copied during my research in VA. If urge you to log on to the

Bedford Museum web page, which is where I first realized the Dooley name is like Smith there <http://www.bedfordmuseum.org/>

Hello I'm trying to work out if we are connected to EDWARD DOOLEY and possibly his brother Cincinnati, Hamilton, Ohio. We found an old NY of an Edward Dooley, GOLD REFINER, from Galway, Ireland, born 1834, arrived on the Savannah November 1847, son of Edward Dooley and H (both dec); 3 brothers JAMES JOHN, PATR MICHAEL. I think I have traced Edward and his brother's to Cincinnati between 1880 and 1892 possibly connected to offshoots of the Blacks smelting trades. Anyone have connections to the Dayle, I received your genealogy research through Kathy Dooley of Maryland. I am the great-great Michael Dooley through the following lineage Dooley => Francis X. Dooley => Rutherford J Raymond J. Dooley => Dennis Michael Dooley fill you in on the west coast Dooley clan, origin Washington D.C and Maryland. Ray and June 12 children (one died at birth). Ten of us are still living at last count around 64 of us descended from R My dad died a few years back at age 77. My mother at age 88 and still living at home on Mercer Washington State. Is the lineage broken above Dooley? Is there any trace to relatives in Ireland forward to your reply, Dennis

The Dooley side of our family lives primarily in and Dayton OH area. My father was Donald E. SR, grandfather Max Edward Dooley Hi Maureen Your email address didn't work... looking for my Dooleys in East Galway. My grandmother was Mary Dooley b c1826 (rumored brothers that immigrated to the US), daughter occupation whitesmith. We have only recently found an orphan in the Mt Bellew Workhouse and was from Clonbrock, Co Galway. We have found record for an Edward Dooley (and wondering if a son for our Edward Dooley, dating back to 1818 says he was: "a Gold Refiner, from Lurgan, Co Ireland, born 1834, arrived on the Samuel Hick 1847, son of Edward and Honora (?) Lally (brothers James Jno, Pat and Michael. Interesting account numbers belongs to Malachy Lally (the gone together) from Ahascragh, Galway. Parent and Elizabeth Geraghty. Lives near Edward Do York." I am curious about this link, 1. He was first (same as your Dooleys). I guess I'm wondering if E's middle name might be Edward and possibly passed down. 2. As my Edward was a whitesmith this Edward was a gold refiner indicates to me there is a link with occupation. I have also seen some Edward Dooley from this area, occupation Na Horseshoe Nail Maker. 3. The fact that this Edward Lurgan, Co Galway is very close to Clonbrock Bellew. How does this information fit in with your story?

Great resource, Ireland Reaching Out

Notes on the Gibbs Family History

by The Nicholas Gibbs Historical Society

From the first issue of The Gibbs Magazine, published by The Nicholas Gibbs Historical Society.

Origin of the Gibbs Family

Several sources say that the forebears of the Gibbs family migrated from England about 1640-1649. One source says they were Scottish and another says they migrated before 1485 during the Wars of the Roses. All agree that they were refugees.

This editor [of the 1972 journal] believes that it was very unlikely that the Gibbses migrated as early as 1485. The Wars of the Roses were dynastic wars between rival branches of the English royal family and the great nobles who were their supporters. Though they caused great misery, they did not split the English people ideologically as did the English Revolution which led to the death of Charles I.

On the other hand, after the schism between the Church of England and the Roman Catholic Church during the reign of Henry VIII, the people of England were split at least four ways on religious questions: the Catholics, the Church of England, the Presbyterians, and the Covenanters (Roundheads or Congregationalists). The prevailing political belief of the time, not only in England, but all over Europe, was that the citizens of a nation ought to share the faith of its ruler. Otherwise they could not be loyal to him. So when Mary came to the throne, England reverted to Catholicism, and hundreds of Protestants were killed.

Elizabeth held down the fighting as long as she lived, but James I and Charles I both tried to convert all their subjects to the Church of England. Thousands of Catholics fled to France. Many of the Presbyterian and Congregationalist groups fled to Holland and Germany, e.g. the "Pilgrims."

After Oliver Cromwell put Charles I to death in 1649, it was the turn of the Church of England people to suffer. All the misery did not end until Charles II was put on the throne in 1660. For these reasons, we believe that the Gibbs family were Protestants who fled England to a hospitable Protestant area in Germany in the early years of the 17th century.

Birthdate of Nicholas Gibbs

William Gibbs McAdoo, Sr., great-grandson of Nicholas Gibbs, says in his 1846 letter to George Washington Gibbs that the record in Nicholas Gibbs own handwriting gave September 29, 1733, as the date of his birth. Mrs. Genevieve Peters found a record in Northampton County, Pennsylvania, containing the muster roll of men who enlisted for three years to fight in the French and Indian War in Captain John Nicholas Weatherholt's company. Number 18 was Nicholas Gips, born in Germany, who enlisted September 1, 1767, at the age of 20. If Nicholas Gibbs enlisted at the age of 20 (his birthday was September 29), he would have been born in 1736.

Incidentally, Gibbs would sound like Gips if pronounced by a German.

Date of Landing

According to Strassburger's Pennsylvania German Pioneers Johan Nickel Gibs arrived on October 1, 1764, on the ship Phoenix, John Spurrer, Master. The ship sailed from Rotterdam, but the passengers were listed as from "Zweybreck," now called Zweibrücken.

Family letter written to May Powers on January 28, 1949 by W. H. Thomas states:

... that the Gibbs were originally Scottish that left England during the War of The Roses . . . "They were Scotch, came to England with the Stuart Kings, were Royalists and left to save their heads when Cromwell cut off the head of their King, Charles I. The family evidently possessed wealth and power under the Stuart dynasty."

"Nicholas Gibbs, son of Nicholas Gibbs, was born in the Duchy of Baden in 1733. Coming first to Pennsylvania . . . he sojourned for some time on Antietam Creek in Chowan County, Maryland where he married Mary . . . they all came to Orange County North Carolina in the 1750's . . . The Gibbs left Alamance in 1791 and came to Sharp's Station in Big Valley." (Tennessee)

There is a book titled, "Notable Families of Tennessee" published by Miss Zella Armstrong of Chattanooga that gives some information on the Gibbs family.

From a book called: "Nicholas Gibbs and His Descendants" by the Nicholas Gibbs Historical Society: "The grandfather of Nicholas Gibbs left England because of religious and political reasons to save his head when his King, Charles I, lost his in 1649. He married a woman in Amsterdam and never went back to London, but sought refuge along the Rhine River in Germany, and it was in the Village of Wallruth, near the town of Krumbach, Duchy of Baden, that Nicholas was born September 29, 1733. In the original Gibbs family there were three brothers, Peter, Abraham, and Nicholas, and two sisters, Mary and Catherine. Abraham and Nicholas came from Germany to America, Nicholas coming to America in 1747 and Abraham sometime prior to that time. Peter died in Germany before Nicholas left for America. Abraham settled in the town of Fredericktown, Maryland and his descendants were residents of Baltimore, Maryland, in 1846. Nicholas, named for his father, became offended with his father in some way and left home for America at age of 14 (1747). He left home with 30 guineas ($150.00 in American money), which the captain of the ship told him was just half enough to pay for his fare across the ocean, so Nicholas sold his time to pay for the other half. After working his time out for the other half of his fare, he joined the English army and served five years in the French and Indian Wars. While he was a soldier his brother, Abraham, heard of him and sought an appointment with him. Nicholas had no recollections of ever having seen his brother, so he applied the criterion his mother had given him by which to identify Abraham. should ever they meet, which was a spot or scar on Abraham's head. Finding the spot on Abraham's head, he at once claimed him as his brother. After serving his tour of five years, Nicholas went to Fredericktown, Maryland, to live with his brother, Abraham. However, his brother's wife and he did not harmonize, so Nicholas went to North Carolina and settled in Orange County, where he married Miss Mary Ephland, and where part of his family was grown and some married before he came to East Tennessee to settle 12 miles northeast of Knoxville, Tennessee, near House Mountain."

Another distinguished settler at Sharp's Station was Nicholas Gibbs. Gibbs was born in the Duchy of Baden, German, on September 29, 1733. It is claimed that he saw service in the French and Indian War and during the American Revolution as an official of Orange County, North Carolina, under the Continental Government. The Gibbs family had once been courtiers at the royal court when the Stuart dynasty held power in England and held great estates there. Gen. G. W. Gibbs, a son of Nicholas, in a letter to the first William Gibbs McAdoo, in 1846, stated that his family left England to save their heads at the time their king lost his, from this bit of information, we believe that the Gibbs family migrated to German when Cromwell came to power and caused King Charles I to be executed. Before migrating to Tennessee Nicholas Gibbs lived some four miles from present Burlington, North Carolina on Liberty Road. Stoner's Church at the confluence of the creeks that united to form Great Alamance, housed both the German Reform and the Lutheran congregations. Hundreds of people throughout East Tennessee proudly claim descent from Nicholas Gibbs and his wife, Mary Efland. Gibbs and his family moved to upper Knox County, Tennessee, after Indian hostilities ceased where he purchased many acres and raised a large family. The Gibbs community and Gibbs High School bear his name. Gibbs died in 1817 and was buried on the homestead at near Harbison's Cross Roads. His log home, built in 1792, still stands.

His children were:

1. Elizabeth Gibbs, born 1765, married John Snodderly, buried at Lost Creek Cemetery.
2. Mary Gibbs, born 1766, married Henry Albright, buried at Stoner's churchyard, Orange (now Alamance) Co., NC
3. Sarah Gibbs, married Conrad Sharp, buried Lost Creek Cemetery.
4. John Gibbs, married Ann Howard and was buried near the mouth of Hinds' Creek in Anderson Co., TN.
5. Catherine Gibbs, married John Holmes and is buried in Stoner's churchyard, Alamance Co., NC.
6. Nicholas Gibbs Jr., married Rachel Doyle. He was a captain and fell in the Battle at Horseshoe Bend, supposedly buried there.
7. David Gibbs, born in 1774, married Sarah Tulman, daughter of Tobias and Catherine Sharp Tillman. Catherine was a daughter of Henry and Barbara Graves Sharp. Tobias settled where the late Harvey Stooksbury lived near Loyston, but migrated to Preable County, Ohio, in 1803.
8. Jacob Gibbs, born 1777, married Hulda Reed and is buried in Gibbs family graveyard near Harbison's Cross Roads, Knox Co., TN.
9. Barbara Gibbs, married Dr. Beriah Frazier and is buried in Rhea Co., TN
- 10. Sylphenia Gibbs, married Jesse Martin and migrated to Missouri.
11. George W. Gibbs, married Leanna Dibrell of White Co., TN. He was a lawyer and banker in Nashville, founded Union City, TN, and buried there. He was Adjutant General of TN under Gov. William Carroll.
12. Daniel Gibbs, born 1786, married Sarah Sharp.

HISTORY OF YORK COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA

was appointed brigadier general from Louisiana. He commanded Forts Jackson and St. Philip at the time of their capture by Admiral Farragut, on April 25, 1862, and became a prisoner of war. He died at Knoxville, Tennessee, December 18, 1862.

Valentine Trout, the last associate judge of York County, was born in Chanceford in 1817, and has resided there for the long period of eighty-seven years. He was elected associate judge of York County in the fall of 1873 and served the full term of five years. The new constitution for the state of Pennsylvania, that went into effect in 1874, discontinued the office of associate judge, in the large counties of the state, but Judge Trout served out his entire term, retiring from the bench in the year 1878.

The following interesting account of the McKinley ancestry was furnished by Robert C. Bair, member of the York County Bar.

The McKinleys were among the pioneers of the lower end of York County. The section in which they settled had early been called by Maryland "Solitude." The Penns called it "Lower Hallam." In 1745 Lower Hallam was divided into two townships—Chanceford and Fawn. Two years before this David McKinley and his family, consisting of a wife, three sons and one daughter, selected for his homestead three hundred and sixteen acres on the highest land in all that wilderness. Its summit overlooks entire Chanceford and Lower Chanceford townships, with their grand succession of ridges lying east and west, jutting on the deep grooved Susquehanna Valley. The view from its crest expands into a magnificent landscape extending eastward to the far hills of the Octoraro and on the north fifty miles to the Blue Ridge mountains.

The neighbors of David McKinley called their tracts "Rippey's Park," "Morton's Fancy," "Myroch," "Perilous Adventure," "Descending Mountain," "Gwinston," "Small Gam," "Locust Spring," and "Craggy-mount." What David christened his land is not recorded, but he might well have titled its royal loftiness, "The Highland Chief." This tract in 1927 in its relation to roads and places is situated a short distance northeast from the village of Chanceford, also called wards owned by Joseph Tosh, the present owners being John and Thomas Tosh. It extended northeastward and included all lands of his son Stephen, all that now known now as Thomas and Jordan McKinley land toward the river hills. David McKinley laid his foundation and erected his half-stone and half-log house in a sheltered rift near a large spring. When the homestead was planted eleven log houses had been already erected in the hills of York—the homestead was twenty miles southeast of the eleven houses.

David McKinley was a warrior. Like all who came with him to the barrens of York county, he had to struggle courageously against the stern opposition of nature's advantages. There was no cleared land. The soil was so poor that one or two seasons crops exhausted it, and another hill had to be cleared. The sickle was his champion reaper; the flail his steam thruster and the palms of his hands his plow and sheller. There were no highways—the so-called Great Road to Yorktown in the river—there were only paths through the underbrush and woods. Deep ravines lay on all sides, through which swift streams plunged down to the river, some miles off. Forests of chestnut, oak, hickory, safras, poplar, birch and dogwood overtopped the hills, with here and there a natural clearing upon which stunted cedars supported thin and worn out soil. Through the wind-whipped stretches only bracken fern ran, following for the most part abandoned Indian trails that made short cuts from point to point of natural advantage.

David McKinley was a man of courage and public spirit. The necessity for "roads" at once claimed his attention. Even before the organization of York County he was engaged in this important movement. Upon its organization, 1799, he gave his best efforts to the permanent improvement of Chanceford. Petitions for roads were circulated among the inhabitants by David McKinley; and when they were signed it was back of their importance before the Court. He was a leading champion of the first highways leading away from the Susquehanna ferries, and was appointed with William Morrison who lived in what was
